

THIS WEEK IN THE TEACHING CENTER

Monday, January 31 to Friday, February 4, 2011

Tuesday, February 1st

11:00-12:20 Teaching Reading

— the third workshop in the “Promising Practices in Teaching Developmental English” series, a Faculty Learning Certificate series

Contact: Julie Odell at jodell@ccp.edu

For this session, we will discuss the article “Teaching Reading From a Metacognitive Perspective: Theory and Classroom Experiences” from the Journal of College Reading and Learning, Fall 1999. We ask that you read the piece beforehand, as we will discuss its content and what it means to teach reading using metacognitive strategies.

You can download the article at “Teaching Reading From a Metacognitive Perspective: Theory and Classroom Experiences” from http://findarticles.com/p/articles/mi_hb3247/is_1_30/ai_n28746732/

12:30-1:50 The Art of Lecture

— the first workshop in “The Teacher as Public Speaker” series, a Faculty Learning Certificate series

Contact: Craig Strimel at teachingcenter@ccp.edu

The first session will provide some basic theory on effective lecturing, as well as time to discuss best practices and new strategies. Based on ideas presented and generated in this session, participants will design individual lectures for an upcoming class session. Small groups or pairs will be assigned, and classroom observations will be conducted during the following week

Wednesday, February 2nd

12:30-2:00 Preparing to Teaching Online

— the first workshop in “Introduction to Teaching Online” series, a Faculty Learning Certificate series

Contact: Melissa St. Pierre or Fran Lukacik at teachingcenter@ccp.edu

This session introduces you to the world of online teaching and learning. We address common misconceptions and concerns held by both faculty and students. We help you think about the strengths of teaching online, and the possible challenges. After the session, you will log on to WebStudy to experience the role of student in an online course.

3:30—4:30 African Writers Book Group (meets weekly)

Contact: Jere Brubaker at jbrubaker@ccp.edu

Thursday, February 3rd

3:00-4:30 Faculty Learning Community on Critical Thinking

— the first meeting of the semester for this on-going Faculty Learning Community
